

(IM)MATERIAL CULTURE

Health History Collections in a Digital Era

RECEPTION: November 10 2017 (5:30pm - 7:30pm) SYMPOSIUM: November 11 2017 (10:30am - 6:00pm)
University of Toronto, Medical Sciences Building

For further information contact: md.reception@utoronto.ca

SPONSORED BY:
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO FACULTY OF MEDICINE / A.M.S. ASSOCIATED MEDICAL SERVICES
/ UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO, CANADA SESQUICENTENNIAL STEERING COMMITTEE

(IM)MATERIAL CULTURE

Health History Collections in a Digital Era

A part of the University of Toronto's Sesquicentennial Commemorations, (IM)MATERIAL CULTURE: Health History Collections in a Digital Era, an interdisciplinary symposium, will take place on November 10th and 11th, 2017. The event is hosted by the University of Toronto's Health History Partnership, (IM)MATERIAL CULTURE focuses on broadening perspectives on health as represented through material culture. It explores, in particular, the ways in which collections may be used to recover and present the histories of previously 'invisible', or marginalized groups.

The event begins with an evening reception and keynote address on the Symposium's themes (Friday, November 10th). This is followed by an inter-professional (IPE) education day (Saturday November 11th) at the Medical Sciences building, with panels, speakers and exhibits charting the evolution of health history collections in a digital era.

RECEPTION: November 10 2017 (5:30pm - 7:30pm)
SYMPOSIUM: November 11 2017 (10:30am - 6:00pm)
University of Toronto, Medical Sciences Building

For further information contact: md.reception@utoronto.ca

